

Company Overview

With the support of modern knowledge, technical and financial capacity, and experienced and specialized human resources, Cassandane Trading Company started its activity in mineral production, processing, and extracting many years ago. Using the latest equipment and machines worldwide, the company produces the required minerals for various industries. All the products are sent to different countries through a quality control process and laboratory tests based on international standards. By producing different types of minerals such as kaolin, ball clay, bentonite, talc, etc., Cassandane Trading Company has managed to meet the needs of many traders to turn into one of the leading producers of these products worldwide.

Business Description

Today, Due to the progression of various industries and technologies, the need for mineral materials has increased as it is hard to find an industry without direct or indirect mineral needs leading many companies to start mining. In terms of this industry's economic and investment situations, many factors are involved, such as the mine's location, relative grade, texture, composition of minerals, extraction costs, and mineral compounds. Many countries have put mineral extraction and processing on their agenda. China ranks first with a trade balance of $ 184 billion, and Australia, the United States, and Indonesia, with a financial credit of 142, 92, and 59 billion dollars, are the second to fourth largest producers of these products worldwide, respectively. Cassandane Trading Company operates in the field of extraction and processing of various minerals such as kaolin, ball clay, bentonite, talc, feldspar, and dolomite.
